

Kara Platoni

December 18, 2006

Faxploitation: Call of the Wild

Filed under: Science & Technology, Politics & Government

Photo courtesy the Center for Biological Diversity

Who doesn't love the (cell phone) call of the Beluga whale?

Aw, now this is cute! If you've spent the last two weeks in the mall having your peace of mind gradually shredded by everyone's cellphone shrilly ringing, blinging, and singing, the San Francisco office of the Center for Biological Diversity wants you to know that it has a little holiday gift for you: downloadable ringtones of rare and endangered species, including Blakiston's Fish Owl, the Beluga Whale, and the Mountain Yellow-legged Frog. More after the jump.