

Roads to ruin or prosperity? Environmentalists want to block Florida toll-road projects

By James Call

Tallahassee Democrat

A hodgepodge of environmental and civic groups on Thursday said they've banded together to block construction of 300 miles of new toll roads — despite the state having already made a $45 million down payment on the project.

Communities crying foul of proposed toll roads

By Mike Vasilinda

Capitol News Service

Plans to build 350 miles of toll roads has big Florida businesses cheering and environmentalists crying foul.

Florida environmentalists team up against toll road projects

By Lawrence Mower

Tampa Bay Times

More than 50 Florida environmental groups announced Thursday they were joining forces to fight a proposal to build more than 300 miles of toll roads through rural and ecologically sensitive parts of the state.

Coalition gathers strength to fight Florida's proposed toll roads

By Forrest Saunders

WFTS Tampa Bay (also posted to YouTube), WPTV West Palm Beach, Yahoo! News

A group of Florida businesses and nonprofits hope to put the brakes on three proposed toll roads. Research for the projects, approved in May, cover 300 miles of northern, central and southern portions of the state.

Jefferson Residents Express Their Opposition To Northern Expansion Of Suncoast Toll Road

By Lynn Hatter

WFSU Tallahassee

Jefferson County residents are opposed to a planned toll road that would run through the county and into Georgia.

Groups will go to battle over planned toll roads

By Matt Dixon

Politico

This article is behind a paywall.