Southern Arizona Is JAGUAR Country

JAGUARS NEAR TUCSON?
Jaguars have been spotted in 9 different mountain ranges in southern Arizona since 1996 and 3 individual jaguars have been photographed there since 2015.*

HOW BIG ARE JAGUARS?
The jaguar is the 3rd largest cat in the world after lions and tigers.

Jaguars, like all wild cats, are hyper-carnivores. They consume a wide variety of prey. In Arizona they eat from a large menu that could include deer, javelina, coati, skunks, raccoons, frogs, birds and other animals.

WHAT DO JAGUARS IN ARIZONA EAT?
Whatever they want.

*as of October 2017

In 2014 the Center for Biological Diversity won 764,207 acres of protected critical habitat for jaguars in southern Arizona and New Mexico.
